

Irina Yoshida

- Theater
- Science Lab

(Click the above links for more information on specific classes)

Irina Yoshida graduated from the Moscow Telecommunication and Information University and worked as a software developer mostly for telecommunication companies in Russia, Italy and Denmark. During her career as a software developer Irina also had a brief period of working for medical research lab at Moscow Sklifosovsky Research Institutes. In 1993-1995 Irina took a break from the software development to work at the Russian State TV as a on air production coordinator.

Despite her technical background Irina has always had passion for theater and took various drama classes during her school and university years.